NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO MOTHERS.

In a country where the rearing of infants is attended with somewhat exceptional difficulties and risk owing partly to climatic reasons, and partly to the difficulty of getting medical assistance in the 'camp,' an apology is hardly needed for publishing a small hand-book on the subject for the use of mothers. In Dr. Pennel's book on Infant Feeding an attempt has been made to explain in simple terms the reasons on which the various rules and recommendations are based, in order that a mother in modifying her child's diet from time to time as required, may be guided by common sense and not by the hundred and one conflicting counsels, with which she will be assailed. On sale at all bookstalls and libraries.

John Smith, baker of Penzance, came to Buenos Aires in 1889, last heard of as a work-man in the Tit-Bits factory of Marcos Andersen & Co. where he left in May last having grown so enormously stout that a change of fare and air was deemed necessary. His wife would like very much to hear from him. Any person knowing his where-abouts is earnestly requested to send information to this office, or to Marcos Andersen & Co. Our genial friend Lussich gave a luxurious spread this morning at Mine Host Charpentier's in honor of the Argentine Minister Moreno. To-night this distinguished diplomat is being banqueted by H. E. President Borda at his palatial private residence. On Thursday ex-President Julio Herrera y Obes takes his turn and will offer Minister Moreno a parting cup of tea and a musical soiree. To-morrow another Ministerial banquet, also served by Mine Host Charpentier will be given by the Rural Minister Castro to the eminent engineers Guerarly and Kummer who are leaving on Thursday next for Europe. To this grand feast the French and German Ministers and Consuls have been invited; the ministers of State, Luther's technical group of Engineers, the members of the Board of Public Works, the members of the special port studies commission, and of the National Board of Engineers, in all forty five guests.

United Kingdom

London, 14th—The excitement in Ireland has calmed down in view of promises made by Government to effect a reconciliation of parties,

Lord Salisbury is holding continual interviews with the French and Russian Ambassadors, and it is believed that a Triple Alliance will be the result of these quiet interviews; the Press is confident that this will be the final outcome.

The news that Mr. Chamberlain promised the North American Government to protect United States citizens in Transvaal has created an excellent impression in New York. This decision will go a long way towards making England friendly with the United States agrin.

A telegram from Havannah announces that the insurgents have set fire to the town of Vegas de Francispol: they also attempted an attack on Matanzas, but were repulsed with great losses.

The duration of the Cuban insurrection calls for fresh efforts to crush it and the Minister of War has ordered another large number of Mauser rifles in Germany, on condition that they be delivered before the middle of February, when they will be at once forwarded to the army in Cuba.

An official telegram received from Havanna reports the rout this morning by the Spanish troop in the Province of Puerto Principe near that city, of an insurgent column commanded by José Maceo. The rebels it is added, lost 12 killed and 60 wounded, the majority of the latter being taken prisoner.

According to the arrangements made by Congress, the proposals for the loan should be made in Santiago and not in London, some state that Rothschild and other bankers declared that the state of the European market would not allow of such a transaction. Others state that the bankers were offended at the arrangements dictated by the Chilian Congress and therefore refuse to lend the money. It is rumoured that Government will ask for permission to keep open a current account of £200,000 in London whilst the obstacles to the launching of £4.000,000 loan continue.

THE SECRET SESSION.

The Ordinary and Extraordinary Session of the Congress of 1895 has come to an end after six months of most laborious work, of most important and variegated discussion. It was born in broad day-light, but was cradled in mystery, and now closes the chapter in secrecy. International politics, Government appointments, administrative reforms, votes for armament, nay, the very financial bills were discussed in secret sittings—why? Can it be that the little black cloud on the Western horizon involves in its shadows the whole machinery of Government and legislation? It must be so, and we must frankly confess that if this Chilian bug-bear is to be blamed for the secrecy of Congress sittings and for enormous expenditure on war material, it must also be blessed for the salutary reform that we see carried out not only in every department of the Government, but more especially for its remarkable welding power in internal politics: a magician's wand seems to have been swept over the political ferment of local factions, and all Argentines are to-day united shoulder to shoulder, animated by the axiom—Unity is the strength.

Roquistas, Radicals, and Mitristas have shaken hands over the benches of this Congress, which will be recorded in our legislative annals as the Secret Congress—all local squabbles were stifled, and with unanimity they spurred the apathetic Cabinet of Uriburu into action, upsetting a War Minister, making a clean sweep in the War and Navy departments, and thundering against a finance Minister who in a moment of excessive financial caution tried to stem the current of expenditure in army organization.

For once the Congress of 1895 has answered the expectations of the people, and the Deputies and Senators can withdraw to their homes on the plains or in the mountains cheered by the echo of popular applause; eve London joins in the chorus, for one of the transcendental measures of the Secret Congress is the settlement of the Railway Guarantees and the removal thereby of the chief stumbling block to the credit of Argentina in the great money market of the world. Public opinion also triumphed in the defeat of the Government Bill for the Unification of National and Provincial Foreign Debts, in spite of secret sittings and Ministerial disclosures to overcome the opposition of Senators and Deputies. The adverse vote of the Senate saved the Nation from the onerous burden of scores of millions of fresh indebtedness.

The Secret Congress may also claim the credit of having turned a half-hearted, shilly-shallying Government into one of action and energy, in harmony with the aspirations of the country and the views of the legislators. As the Session closes and the doors of the Hall are locked, one sees with satisfaction that the Government, the Congress, and the People are pledged to one policy, to one wish, from La Quiaca to Cape Horn—peace and union—probably a solitary instance in the history of the Argentine Republic.

This Secret Congress has voted away millions—how much, nobody knows: It is public that the most onerous budget ever presented by any finance minister has been sanctioned in a gallop, and whatever reduction has been made in these estimates is not due to legislative initiative, but to the Government. Congress never retrenches, it always increases expenditure, and until the National Accountant draws up the figures we shall not know how the Budget stands, but of one thing we may feel certain—the Government estimates have been increased. As to secret votes for armament, the figures can only be conjectured. In our private opinion, the Secret Congress has authorized during the six months an extra expenditure for war preparations to the amount of at least five millions sterling. The very last act of Congress was to vote in secret two millions sterling for new war-ships—in this final vote and final sitting is condensed the whole history and spirit of the 1895 session.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

IRELAND.

(From our own Correspondent.)

December 11.

At a meeting last night of the Irish National League of Great Britain at Walworth, Mr. Justin McCarthy made rather an important statement. He seemed to think we should have to endure a Tory Government for some years. which, if not educated up to the level of Home Rule, might give a satisfactory land Bill and settle the edulation question. Mr. McCarthy in acknowledging himself to be a Radical in English politics was quite prepared to support the Government in providing fairer terms for the schools of Catholics on the basis of not divorcing religion from education. In addressing his hearers on the necessity for the reconciliation of the Irish parties themselves, which could alone make home rule possible, he said:—"At present they were making a final effort to settle the difficulties in the Irish Parliamentary party by a new and great movement in Irish national affairs. They hoped to call together a great international convention of the Irish race at home and abroad, to meet in Dublin within a few months. They expected to have representatives of Irishmen in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, the Cape of Good Hope, South America—indeed wherever the Irish race bad planted its foot.... Their hope was that when the declaration of the Convention was made the Irish members and Irishmen who dissented from it would be blotted out of politics." (Cheers, and a voice "Never.")

The rest of Mr. McCarthy's address was much taken up with the domestic discussions of the Irish party. These I eschew, and go to the Times, which has a silly mocking leader on the subject that, too well illustrates a peculiar phase of British opinion as inimical to progress in this part of the country as in Ireland. Mr. McCarthy happened to say that he thought the Tory Government would see that the time had come to close a long struggle by conceding self government to Ireland. To this the Times replied:—"A proposal of this kind is about as far removed from real business in politics as a request on the part of France for the cession of Mainz would have been if addressed to Germany after the battle of Sedan."

Can anything be more brutal and more stupid than this historic parallel perpetrated by retrograde and vulgarly English scribes. Mr. Buckle gets round Erin as he swaggers in the too capacious mantle of Delane! It is incredible that the veriest hireling could descend to such nonsense when within the last few years governments have been unseated and parties disrupted in the struggle for Irish self government which, in a modified form, under Providence and Mr. Chamberlain' the present government is very likely to concede.

One has to read the Irish papers to find how active are both divisions of the home-rule party when from English papers we might imagine that the cause slumbered or that the island was hypnotised by Lord and Lady Cadogan. There are Parnellite meetings or conventions going on systematically in all the principal towns of Ireland. Among the various gentlemen who preside are Mr. John Redmond, Mr. Redmond, Mr. Field, Mr. J. H. Parnell. Mr. P. O'Brian, etc. Putting temporarily aside the general question of home-rule the evicted tenants and the amnesty, these gentlemen seem to lay stress upon industrial questions, technical education and taxation. In this field they will and do find many grievances as regards Ireland, but not without their counterparts on this side of the channel. Take one question to which Mr. John Redmond has prominently referred—the high tariffs of the Irish railways and the necessity for the amalgamation of the companies to reduce expenditure. This has long since been recommended, as Mr. Redmond pointed out, by royal commission reports. But what a question it is! If the State interferes it becomes responsible for evils that might occur and should therefore have some control over the directorate which finally involves the whole question of state ownership. It is on this account the Government, whether Whig or Tory moves so gingerley in railway matters in England. Reforms in this direction are therefore left to private bills, motions and interpellations. If the gentlemen in Ireland, Parnellists or McCarthyists, could succeed in raising this question, they would do us all service and will receive vigorous support from the British agricultural community. The vested interests to be attacked are however enormous. We want a Cromwell. Unfortunately our Cromwell might be equally vigorous in other matters, in Ireland as well as in England. Wise people advise us to wait patiently the slow but inevitable process of evolution. On the other hand, if these wise people want to build a new house, they do not wait for an earthquake to knock the old one down. The Irish parties are quite right to keep pegging away at these industrial questions. The English people understand questions of that nature, and through them their eyes will be opened to political requirements. As for the small grants already made to Ireland for technical education it is no great grievance when we consider that in this great manufacturing part of the Kingdom the subject is quite in its infancy. Our board school boys are taught carpentering and book-binding etc., but it is our farmers and manufacturers who want most teaching. In fact they general education, particularly in regard to foreign languages. We have an endless quantity of young manufacturers who are university graduates, but it is no use making pattern book and price lists in bad Greek. They are wanted in living languages, as Mr. Chamberlain will soon tell these gentlemen. In regard to Home Rule, we find that Nationalist meeting and National Conventions in Ireland are at present too much occupied with their own squabbles. Mr. Redmond is going to call Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Dillon to accounts for the mode in which the £23,000 from Paris was appropriated. That may be a long business. I turn with more pleasure to Mr. Havilaus Burke's complaint at the Ballina convention that English party leaders—including Lord Rosebery—"trifle with the Irish question." That appears a most unjust accusation when we look back at the work of a Gladstone, a Morley, and even a Harcourt or Rosebery, but there is a certain truth in it, and it all amounts to this: that the mere etiquette of English parliamentary and ministerial procedure, joined to individual "hauteur" in some ministers, has prevented Governments taking Irish party leaders into their confideuce. When it is done, it is done surreptitiously, which is only a worse blunder.

In spite of the bluster of Parnellite orators on the subject of dealings with any English party, I think the most hopeful news for Ireland I can give you is that the leaders—not ex-Ministers and so forth—but the real working leaders of the Liberal party, have decided to subordinate all minor questions to one—the land. This, if done thoroughly, will end the House of Lords, the Irish question and most others of an old pattern.

Mr. Lecky, as you will know, is returned for Dublin University by a large majority over his antagonist Mr. Wright. They are both Unionists, and the election have no political significance. It was Literature v. Law—and Literature won.

THE FRENCH MAILS.

London, Dec. 21

An entire revulsion of feeling on the subject of Mr. Cleveland's Message to Congress was brought about in New York yesterday by the panic which prevailed in Wall Street. The falling of values and the failure of brokerage houses quickly turned the current of opinion against the President, who, our Correspondent says, within three days has been the most popular and the most unpopular man in the country. Predictions are being made, in view of the wholesale return of American securities from Europe, and the prospective depletion of the Treasury reserve, that the country will within a few weeks be driven to adopt a silver standard, although it is generally believed that Congress would intervene in time to avert this contingency. The scenes on the Stock Exchange described in the telegrams from New York recall those of the War time, and of other noted panics of history.

A telegram from Cape Coast Castle says that ten thousand loads have been sent to the front since the arrival of the Bathurst. The remainder of the West India Regiment landed from the Loanda yesterday and started for Mansu. Twenty men of the regiment are ill, and four white soldiers are on the sick list. The Koranza King has promised to assist the British.

The North German Lloyd Company's mail steamer Spree still remains fast on the Warden Ledge, off the Needles, where she became fixed on Thursday morning, all efforts to drag her from that position by means of tugs having proved futile. Steps will now be taken to lighten her as much as possible by shifting the cargo, in the hope that she will float on a high tide.

Application was made in a Queen's Bench Divisional Court yesterday by Mr. Ruegg, Q. C., on behalf of Jabez Spencer Balfour, for a rule nisi against the Crown, to show cause why judgment should not be entered for the prisoner, or a new trial ordered in the indictment with respect to the Whitehall Court estates, on which sentence of seven years' penal servitude was passed. After hearing the arguments, Justices Wills and Wright granted the rule on the point whether there was sufficient evidence to support the conviction.

Alfred Chipperfield, the survivor of the tragedy in a cab at Islington on Wednesday night, is making good progress towards recovery at St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Few further particulars of importance have been gathered as to the motive for the double crime.

Alexander Sarti, who was indicted at the County of London Sessions, Clerkenwell, for being concerned in the robbery of silver ingots from the Midland Railway Company, was yesterday found guilty, and he afterwards pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement from his employers, Messrs. Elkington and Co. Sir Peter Edlin remarking that it was a bad case, sentenced the prisoner to three years and six months' penal servitude.

According to the little book published the other day by Messrs. Phelp and Son about "British Guiana and its resources," the gold produce of the colony has made marvellous progress since 1884. In that year it was only 250 ounces; in 1887 it was nearly 11,000 ounces; in 1891-2 it had reached over 110,000 ounces; in 1893 it was nearly 139,060 ounces. The total yield of gold from 1884 to 1894 was 631,746 ounces.

Last night's London Gazette contains the formal announcements of her Majesty's consentin Council to the contracts of matrimony between Princess Maud and Prince Charles of Denmark and between the Princess Alexandra of Edinburgh and the Hereditary Prince Ernest of Hohenloffe-Langenbourg.

Reuter's Agency is informed that according to the latest mail advices from Caracas there is steadily increasing anti-English feeling throughout the country. A Society for Territorial Defence has been established with numerous branches, and enthusiastic meetings have been held. At Cabello, at the close of one of these meetings, the people ran into the streets shouting "Down with the English." An Englishman resident for many years in Venezuela who has lately returned to England, has communicated to a representative of Reuter's Agency his views on the present situation. He expressed his conviction that the attitude of the United States regarding the Venezuelan boundary is influenced by the fact that Americans hold very large concessions of territory in the delta of the Orinoco, part of these concessions being in the disputed territory He added that for years past there had been strong competition in Caracas and other towns between British and American commerce, the former of which had always had the firmer hold in Venezuela.

THE ANGLO-GERMAN INCIDENT.

It is a well known fact that Emperor Williams's sympathies, as well as those of the whole German nation, are with the Boers, and whatever little error the young Kaiser may have committed can only be put down to his enthusiasm for the cause of those plucky, but rather obstinate descendants of Africanders, Dutch and French.

Without wishing to attach too much importance to that unfortunate telegram, there is no doubt that, in spite of all explanations tendered on that painful subject, the Emperor William has alienated, for many years at least, the sympathies of the British people, whose destiny seemed so much bound up with that of Germany, thus causing a serious breach in a bond of amity which had lasted for two centuries without any serious interruption.

But throughout this whole question we must count on another element, more important than the enthusiastic and, perhaps, hot-headed utterances of a monarch with "Gottes Gnaden" ideas, as the Kaiser possesses them. The proverbial good sense of England and Germany will do much to smooth over matters, and besides a momentary interruption of friendly relations is by no means equivalent to any danger of war, a contingency not to be reckoned on by any sensible Briton or Teuton.

But with regard to the Kaiser's "faux pas", and such it must be termed, even by his most fervent admirers, I would like to ask: Is the game worth the candle? Are the Boers worth the trouble of causing William II to lose England's friendship? Whence this enthusiasm for liberty abroad that is not so willingly conceded at home? The Kaiser congratulates President Krüger, assures him of his support and sympathy, and afterwards complains like the school-boy of old that he did n't mean and won't do it again. The young Hohenzollern has evidently much to learn.

Now: what have the Boers done to rouse such universal admiration? Of course, they have fought for their liberty and independence and fought well. Other nations have done the same and more, but have not been lauded up in the skies and slavered over as if they were the only heroic people of modern times. The Boer represents conservatism in its most ignorant and primitive form. Brave he undoubtedly is, but he has many equals in this respect. He is a patriot, well and good; bravery and patriotism are not exclusively confied to Boers. Perhaps Argentines are as brave and patriotic, or more so. But a European sovereign, even a Kaiser Wilhelm, would think twice before he ever would send the Argentine President, even in a similar case of supposed aggression, a telegram like that received by President Krüger.

I have enumerated the Boer's two principal virtues. Now as to his failings He is cruel and oppresive. Witness his treatment of the native. How he grinds down and despises the African, be he Matabele, Penoh or Zulu. He shoots him like a dog if he resists, and grants him no civil rights whatever. Now how does he treat the Nitlanders who have made his country what it is? Mr' Boer has been staying at home, smoking his pipe, while the Saxon oppressor has been working without a hope of ever obtaining citizenship or a participation in the government of the country he has made with his own capital and enterprise.

But Krüger and Joubert know what they are about. If they allow the Nitlanders equal rights, (which all other countries concede to naturalized foreigners, they will find in time that England will own the Transvaal. She will do so anyhow, in spite of the narrow-minded policy upheld by President Krüger and his Volksraad. No congratulation telegrams or foreign intervention will stop events in the Transvaal or prevent that country from ultimately belonging to Great Britain. The consequence may be a coolness between England and Germany. But then England is not without friends.

The strong never are.

THE ANGLO-VENEZUELAN QUESTION.

LATEST FROM TRANSVAAL.

The following are the latest particulars of the Anglo-Venezuelan Question. At a Cabinet Council held by Lord Salisbury and his Ministers, it was resolved to resume diplomatic relations with Venezuela.

The Westminster Gazette states that England and Venezuela will again be on friendly terms. The Standard states that all the documents referring to England's right to the Venezuelan territory are being classified, and will soon be published. The Standard interprets Lord Salisbury's new policy, by stating that the British Premier was induced to try and settle the Venezuelan difficulty pacifically by the friendly feeling shown towards England by the United States. "We, says this same paper" seize this opportunity to show how magnanimous the United States has been towards us, whilst other Powers considered the time as just suitable for going against us by insulting and even threatning England. There is a rumour that the British Government is using Chile as a mediator to settle the Venezuelan difficulty.

Telegrams from Caracas announce that Messrs Leijas Laureano, Villanueva, Julian Viso and Antonio Saluzzo have been appointed to carefully look into and classify all the documents referring to the boundary line between British Guiana and Venezuela.

A bloody fight took place a few days ago between some young men who were hotly discussing the Anglo-Venezuelan Question.

In reference to the Transvaal Question, The Standard states that President Krüger has not asked for any change or modifications in the stipulations of the treaty signed in 1884, The Standard also declares that Emperor William's telegram to President Krüger was sent at a moment when the Emperor was very much irritated, and that friendly relations between England and Germany are as firm as ever.

The British public is no longer in a state of excitement, but the preparations for getting a large fleet ready are still being carried on. The Englishmen taken prisoners in the fight with the Boers will soon regain their liberty, Mr. Cecil Rhodes was heard to say a few days ago, that his political career only begins now and that he hopes to live long enough to do South Africa a great deal of good.

A telegram received from St. Petersburg states that the news about Russia helping Germany in the Transvaal Question is very doubtful and therefore not entirely to be relied on. Public opinion in Russia is decidedly adverse to Emperor William's meddling in the Transvaal.

The Paris Figaro states that Emperor Williams feign indifference to the violent articles published against him is a proof that he is convinced of his utter inability to do anything better than sending a silly telegram like the message to President Krüger, besides fully knowing that Germany would run a very poor chance indeed of coming out unscathed from a fight with the British lion.

The National Zeitung states that even if Emperor William does mention the Transvaal Question in his letters to Queen Victoria, what passes between the two Sovereigns is strictly private and cannot be considered as diplomatic correspondence.

A telegram from Berlin states that Emperor William has forbidden any hostile manifestation towards England.

The Temps states that recent questions have broken the alliances between the different European Powers, and that fresh ones will have to be made. The same organ declares that an alliance between England, France and Russia is not probable.

The Birmingham Daily Post states that England and France should be on terms of intimate friendship.

The Independence Belge received a telegram from Paris stating that England and France have settled the Upper Mekong Boundary Question.

The news that Mr. Bayard has asked Lord Salisbury to protect American citizens in the Transvaal has created great surprise. Mr. Chamberlain instructed the Governor of the Cape to grant the protection asked.

LATEST FROM ASHANTEE.

As regards the Ashantee expedition we regret to say that Prince Battemberg continues very sick and has been sent back from the woods to Cape Coast Castle. He is suffering from a low coast fever. The latest advices in London from Cape Coast Castle give the following:—

The young Ashantee King, who is now 21 years of age, is at the head of his army, and has just had a great battle with a friendly tribe protected by England Bekwai, the leader of the tribe, attacked the Ashantees, but got completely cut up and defeated.

The four Ashantee chiefs who came from England on board the steamship Roquelle, left for Coomassie under escort. They are under some apprehension as to the reception awaiting them in the Ashantee Capital, being distrustful of their fellow-envoys, Messrs. John and Albert Ansah, whom they left behind in England. They declare that, according to the arrangement made before they left for home, the Messrs. Ansah were to embark at Southampton in a faster steamer than the Roquelle, and change to the latter vessel at the Canaries. This junction did not take place, and the envoys were further surprised at the non-appearance of their comrades at Cape Coast Castle. The impression is that the Messrs Ansah are unlikely to arrive at all, and there is some talk of important disclosures in regard to these messengers. The theory of their fellow-envoys was that they had waited for money, and, moreover, that not having obtained all that was expected of them, they were afraid to return to Coomassie.

The chiefs who left this afternoon had no credentials, these having been entrusted to Messrs. John and Albert Ansah, and they will simply convey a report of their interview with the Governor to King Prempeh. The expedition has but momentarily been delayed pending these negotiations, and the march to Coomassie will take place as arranged.

Captain R. S. Curtis, in charge of the telegraph section of the Royal Engineers, opens the line at Yankumasi. No one is now allowed to cross the Prah.

Captain O'Donnell and 150 Hussars have been despatched from Acra to Koranza, north of Coomassie, occupied by a tribe which suffered severely from Ashanti attacks last year. They take with them 1000 rifles and 5000 lb. of powder, with the object of resisting a possible attack on the part of Samory.

The steamer Coromanded, from London, with special corps on board, including 13 officers and 254 men, with 15 Royal Engineers and one man of the Army Pay Corps, has arrived.

Two hundred men of the West India Regiment disembarked from the Loanda, and are now encamped in the outskirts of the town.

Lieut. F. L. Blosse, of the West India Regiment, is prostrated with fever, but his case is not regarded as serious.

Surgeon-Colonel Taylor, in command of the medical arrangements for the expedition, landed to-day, and with Mr. Maxwell, the Governor, Sir Francis Scott, and staff, inspected the hospital in course of construction at Connor's Hill. The Commander-in-Chief declared himself well pleased with the progress of the work.

General satisfaction is expressed by the officers and men with the arrangements made for their acccommodation in the Castle here, but at the same time they say they will be glad when the order to advance is given and fighting begins.

LATEST FROM CHUBUT.

(From our own Correspondent)

Teka, Dec, 13th.

Dear STANDARD:

We are all immensely indebted to you for the great interest you have taken in our little far-off world. All the settlers are grateful that you have called the attention of General Roca to the unprotected state of this frontier, at the mercy of Chilian and Indian marauders. Fortunately, affairs have much improved since I last wrote, thanks to the timely arrival of the Governor of the Territory who is an old friend of yours and made several railway excursion trips with you and General Roca years ago. No sooner had he arrived than he appointed your humble servant as Chief Police authority of Stagira with peremptory orders to putan end to all the ferment and disorder among the Indians who now pronounce the name Stagira as if to the manor born. I have organized a body of mounted police and shall begin operations by seizing the Indian "Dios" or "Agorero", who is the cause of all the racket. Our Captain's name is Thomas, a Tipperany man: if the "Dios" resists there will be bloody work on the smiling plains of the Yenua.

In Trelew they much exaggerated the danger of the situation here, but all the better, since they have sent up a body of 40 good men to defend the colony. They arrived with a conviction that they would find us all murdered or beleaguered and our estancias burnt to the ground. At one moment affairs looked critical, and even to the present day we must keep our powder dry in this "Divortia Aquarum", between Indians and bandits. One of the most notorious of the latter has been captured at last, with 300 mares in his possession.

There is some talk of a steam tram from Chubut to the Italian Church—far better to build it from St. George's Gulf to Stagira: the line would go along a good road, through splendid camps, with plenty of grass and water. The Chubut valley you know is very barren and good for nothing. I know these lands well and can vouch for the fact that all the lands from Stagira are good lands for cattle and sheep.

For heaven's sake send us down more STANDARDS. There is always a rush for the paper whenever a cart arrives—and we are often disappointed.

The Governor has made himself very popular by his trip.

Yours,

M.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

We beg to thank Mr. Huxtable for the Report of the Buenos Ayres and Pacific Railway Company, Limited, of which he is manager. The contents are a compliment to the sound management of the line and are an eloquent picture of the prosperity of the country.

The result of the working of the railway for the twelve months, 1894-5, as compared with the corresponding period of 1893-4, is as follows:—

1893-4.		1894-5.
4,235,127.87	Gross receipts	4,679,454.36
2,509,714.92	Working exp.	2,662,186.32
1,725,412.95	Net receipts..	2,017,268.04

being an increase in gross receipts of 10.49 per cent, and, after deducting working expenses, resulting in an increase in net receipts of 16.92 per cent

The working expenses are 56.89 per cent of the receipts as compared with 59.26 in the corresponding period, and the net receipts in sterling are £113,108 7s 8d.

Passenger traffic shows a moderate increase of 16,894 passengers carried (5.27 per cent upon last year's figures) and $10,227.84 in receipts.

Goods tonnage shews a very satisfactory development of 37,421 tons increase, or 15·35 per cent, and the receipts an increase of $412,645.30, or 13·91 per cent.

The traffic has been carried with an addition of only 8,528 train miles, or 0·91 per cent, and the receipts per train mile have increased 9·51 per cent, while the expenses have increased only 5·11 per cent. The net profit per train mile shows an increase of $0·293 or 15·91 per cent.

We publish the returns of the Ferro-Carril Cordoba and Nor-Oeste for the week ending January 7th. The receipts last year amounted in round figures to $167,000 against 135,000 in 1894 and $114,000 in 1893. The increase is a very considerable one. The summer passenger traffic on this line is increasing daily, and it would be much greater but for the want of better hotel accommodation, which although superior to what it was 4 years ago, leaves room for improvement.

Dr. Federico Molina has been appointed Fiscal "ad hoc" in the case of the Government against the Central Argentine Railway before the Federal Court of Santa Fe, for defrauding the Treasury.

The Finance Minister has asked his colleague of the Interior, Dr. Zorrilla to order the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway to erect, at the confluence of the rivers Tigre and Lujan, a "casilla" for Custom House purposes.

Government has decided to let Chapter 8 of the Regulations for transport of livestock, as framed by the Special Commissioners, stand. It refers to the disinfection of railway waggons, and was rescinded by a decree on the 20th of September last.

The Finance Minister has distributed the $500,000 gold for the last quarter of 1895 amongst the Guaranteed Railway Companies as follows:—

Government has accepted the suggestion of the National Railway Board for renewing the rails on the Andine line. The Argentine Minister in London will be ordered to call for tenders to supply the rails required.

Government has decided that, as the law providing that tenders for public supplies can only be set aside in cases of the most urgent necessity, the proposal of Messrs. Evans and Co. to supply rolling stock for the Andine Railway cannot be entertained, and the Argentine Minister in London will be instructed to call for tenders.

DEATH OF MR. HUMPHREY CHAMBERLAIN.

It is our paintul duty to announce the death of Mr. Humphrey Chamberlain, C. E., which occurred on Friday evening, the sad news being received here by cable yesterday. We presume that the death occurred at his residence at Norwood.

Mr. Chamberlain, who was some 51 or 52 years old, first came to the River Plate many years ago on engineering and railway business, his high abilities rapidly earning him a prominent position. When the Central Uruguay Railway was taken over by an English syndicate from the primitive native company, Mr. Chamberlain was appointed Manager, and eventually Managing Director, having earned the fullest confidence of the Board and shareholders. Under his able and careful management the Railway expanded and developed rapidly, and it was practically he who laid the foundations of the solid and successful concern that the Railway now is. Compelled by continued ill-health to abandon his post some three years ago, on his return to England he was at once given a seat on the Board, where his practical counsel snd knowledge were highly valued by his colleagues. Very recently the Uruguayan Government conferred on him the post of Honorary Inspector of Railway Material. We are unable to state the immediate cause of his death, but according to recent letters he was suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis.

Mr. Chamberlain was one of the kindest of men, and enjoyed the love as well as the respect of his subordinates on the railway, and the general esteem of the English colony here, by all of whom his death will be sincerely regretted. Whilst here he always took an active interest in the affairs of the community, which was continued by many kindly and friendly acts after his departure. He was married to Stella, daughter of the late Revd. Dr. Smith, for many years rector of St. John's Church at Buenos Aires. Mrs. Chamberlain survives to lament his loss, but he leaves no family. We repeat our expressions of regret at his decease, in which we are sure all of our readers, who knew him will share.—Montevideo Times.

CONGRESS.

A sitting with closed doors was first held yesterday afternoon, which lasted for 40 minutes.

Some time afterwards the last sitting of the extraordinary session was held. In it were voted the Chacarita de los Colegiales Bill and the Budget in second revision, with certain reservations. Among them may be mentioned insistence of the Senate's original resolve to increase various salaries to officials, to grant $30,000 to Rioja for water-works and several subventions. At the same time the House resolved not to insist on the payment of the furniture for the new Senate-house, amongst those who voted against insistence being Dr. Pellegrini himself. The Budget thus disposed of, the Senate separated, not to meet again till next May.

THEATRES.

The last mails brings us news from that old favourite Frank Brown. He wishes to be remembered to his multitude of friends in the Plate, who will be pleased to know that he is in the very best of health. He is still busy searching for the latest novelties, and not having found exactly what he requires in England, is now roaming over the continent, his last advice being from Germany. He expects to be amongst us once more towards the end of next month, with something stupendous in the way of circus business.

Wirth's circus was again well attended last night and the various items were greatly applauded, The great bull fight was a most amusing farce from beginning to end and the laughter and applause were continuous. It sent every body house in the very best humour.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Affairs in general were quite nice and quiet yesterday in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, and there were no further telegrams from the Mountains of the Moon which a good many people regretted, as moonshine is always popular in this country, both in its real and metaphorical sense. (By the way; there was a new moon yesterday evening, and people rushed to get their hair cut). The best news from old Europe is of a probable alliance between the British Lion, the Russian Bear and Gallic Cock. If this be formed, the other Triple Alliance may as well retire from business at once. John and Jonathan are now the best friends in the world again, and are "liquoring" together after their recent tiff, exactly as we predicted a month ago.

The honourable Senators and Deputies are now bolting for "dulce domun" so fast that Congress will probably be closed to-morrow for want of a quorum fitting wind-up to a rather no-quorumish session. The Senators met yesterday for the last time and said "hasta Mayo" to each other. The Deputies made three attempts at a quorum but failed. They will have a brief wind-up sitting to-day.

There appears to be no truth in the rumour that Sr. Guerrero, ex-Minister of Chile in Argentina, refuses to enter the Cabinet in Santiago as Minister of Foreign Affairs. In high political circles there is much comment over the coincidenc that a grand official banquet should b offered to Sr. Barros Arana, the Limits Commissioner, at the very moment that Sr. Guerrero enters the Chilian Cabinet. It is an open secret that the New Chilian Minister of Foreign Affairs does not agree with the exalted "Divortia Aquarum" views of Sr. Barros Arana.

The Argentine squadron, sighted off Bahia Blanca by the transport Villarino, should have arrived at the bleak and silent shores of New Bay on Monday and will remain there till end of February. The smalt steamer La Prensa, with Commander Nunes and Captain Mulhall on board, on her return from Cape Horn, will meet the expeditionary fleet in that Bay. Colonel Garcia, Chief of the Staff, will join the squadron also in those waters in February. It will be a regular trysting place.

It seems that Bechualand, which was discovered by Major Richard who years ago was in this country, has now been annexed by the Cape of Good Hope Government. Rickard made a fortune in the business. We have received a paper about it, and the terrible state of things there. The Great King there is called Khama. We shall give all particuiars about the shocking state of things there in a few days.

The English Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has kicked up an awful row in England about a live-cattle cargo on board the "Southern Cross" from Australia: 6 per cent. of the sheep and cattle died from hardship on the voyage.

In any of our readers care to study what is going on in real estate business, we advise them to get hold of a little pamphlet just published by Ramon Bravo and Co. It really seems inconceivable that one firm could effect such sales in a year. Mouth for month and street for street the properties sold are detailed. What a roaring business the escribanos must be doing, as for every sale a deed has to be drawn up.

The War Office has issued orders for forty thousand uniforms for the National Guards next March. These uniforms are to be made of cloth, and it is probable that the brin uniforms of last year will be washed and disinfected and sent up for the Guards in the Northern provinces where the winter is not as keen as down here. About eighty thousand uniforms will be ready for the Guards and 20 years old army recruits by the time drilling begins as ordered by law. All this looks like business.

It is understood that the naval engineer Luiggi, engaged by the Argentine Government, will be here before the middle of February, and that immediately after his arrival he will leave in a war-vessel to survey the whole coast from the mouth of the river to Chubut, to select the best site for a port for the Argentine Navy. This implies some doubts in headquarters as to Bahia Blanca being the best site for such an important enterprise as a port and arsenal.

Argentina is making quite a name in the military world. The Argentine Mauser is doing more "merveilles" in Cuba on the dusky rebels than even unfortunate Napoleon the Third's once famous Chassepots did on the enemies of Imperial France; and now it is announced that mountain bridges of the Argentine model were tried last month in France at the camp at Chalons with the most brilliant success, in presence of a crowd of officers of all nations, including thirty French Generals. Bravo! Argentina.

Some of our colleagues are paying the Lord Mayor anything but compliments for allowing a "pulperia" to be opened at the very gates of the Chacarita Cemetery. Grief is thirsty, no doubt; but his lordship should have stipulated for a tolerably decent café or restaurant.

A report recently reached the ears of the War-office that the work on the new iron-clad Garibaldi, bought by the Argentine Government, was being wofully scamped. Orders have consequently been transmitted to Colonel Rivadavia, head of the commission now in Italy to supervise the building of the vessel, to immediately investigate whether there be any foundation for such a disagreeable and incredible rumour. Should, however, the chargos made, prove calumnious, the gallant Colonel has been ordered to court-martial the offender if he wear the Argentine uniform.

A well known thief was yesterday being taken to prison along the Paseo de Julio. Objecting to lose his liberty the man drew his knife and defied the vigilante who, instead of drawing his hanger, also produced a "facon." A duel then ensued in which the thief got the worse, but the policeman is to be tried for his "gauchada" in peferring his "facon" to the official weapon.

Honest Joe has scored again. With a wink that almost shattered his eyeglass, he yesterday indited a wire to the Cape, ordering cousin Jonathan to be carefully looked after in the Transvaal. Talk about coals of fire—why the orchid-boy just does know how to pile them on—and a very pretty move it is. Joe we embrace you—in our heart of hearts.

We are asked to intimate to those ladies and gentlemen, who have kindly consented to assist the choir of St. Andrew's Scotch Church in the production of the cantata of the "The Virgins," that the rehearsals will be suspended during the hot weather. Due notice will be given of the resumption of the meetings.

Messrs. Mudd and Co. the well known coal contractors, have been looking for a coaling station for the Government, and have nt length fixed upon the Bay of San Blas, where there is plenty of deep water. Their opinion is, that it is the safest place on the whole of the coast for such a purpose, and in the event of a war, with very little prearation, it could be made almost impregnable.

San Martin will be "en fete" next Sunday, which will be the Fete of "Jesus Amoroso," the Patron of the place. Archbishop Castellanos has promised to celebrate Pontifical High Mass, and Father Benavente will preach. There will be a full supply of music in the Plaza when the religious ceremonies are over.

It may interest many of our readers to know that the House of Lords has just decided a case of great importance to all Anglo South American companies. It decides that all such companies are liable to pay income tax upon the whole of their profits. The point was raised by the San Paulo Railway Company, Brazil, and the Railway was beaten in the case.

To-day a steamer leaves for the far South, so that parties wishing to write to their friends in Chubut, Punta Arenas, Santa Cruz and Cape Horn have now a chance.

If extra spicy news from any quarter of the earth is wanted the New York papers are sure to have it. We find in the Times of that fine city some news that will interest our marriageable readers. Here is some of it, and we reserve the rest for future "bonnes bouches:" "In many English papers, especially those which claim to circulate among the aristocracy, may be seen advertisements of the "Matrimonial Herald and Fashionable Marriage Gazette." This is the organ of "The World's Great Marriage Association, Limited," which has been duly registered as a limited liability company under act of Parliament, and has been established for more than 12 years, The "Gazette" does not, in the natural course of things expect permanent subscribers, for neither man nor woman, however aristocratic or wealthy, cares about being always getting married; but the advertisement sets forth that the price of a single copy is the modest sum of 3 pence, and that it will be forwarded in an envelope so as to look like a letter for 6 pence. Here are examples of a few applicants. The first is a "young lady" of "ample means," who wishes to marry a "middle-aged, or even elderly gentleman, whom she can thoroughly look up to and respect." The next is a gentleman with prospects, who is "very kind and loving, of good appearance and family." The third is a "graceful and highly accomplished Roman Catholic widow, with £1,000 per annum." the fourth is a Welsh young lady of fortune, who wishes to marry a "good-looking, healthy young Welshman of good moral character." The proverbial scarcity of good moral character in Wales possibly accounts for this advertisement. Proceeding down the list, we find a young but distinguished foreign naval officer, who wants an accomplished lady of British birth, money ne object. A middle-aged, well-preserved, and accomplished widow of ample fortune, and a well-connected maiden lady of quiet habits and fair fortune, a foreign heiress of considerable wealth and a talented linguist, will each be satisfied by getting an English gentleman; but a rich widow with one child, who moves in high-class society, stipulates that the gentleman must possess a military figure. Among the male applicants in the next two pages, all classes are represented, for we find a "smart business man, a medical gentleman in large practice, a master bricklayer, a retired Colonel, a Parish clerk (widower), a Lieutenant in the Royal Navy, a clergyman of the Church of England, a Justice of the Peace, a stationer and fancy shop-keeper, a retired butcher, a merchant, an Archdeacon, a butler, a barrister, a son of a peer, a coachman, and a foreign Prince, besides a large number of gentlemen, all desirous of matrimony, for the most part with young, amiable, tall, and good-looking ladies with more or less means."

Anybody that wants to read a very jocular maritime experience should pay the E. B. E. a visit and get Captain Slocum's trip from the States to Brazil in the once famous Destroyer, the boat that came out with the famous dynamite gun that was to make all South America tremble, ye gods. But for the untimely fate that befell the Destroyer, which is now blacking its ribs, uncoffined and almost unknown, in Rio harbour, that gun would have been a South American institution, as it was apparently Peixots' intention to lend it round to his brother-president's when required, that is whenever there was any family trouble to arrange, which was its peculiar forte. The captain's experiences on the trip are a mixture of danger and humour that cannot fail to amuse.

We hold over for another issue a most interesting letter from the able pen of our talented collaborateur, Mr. MacDonald, of Harrar, the territory that, according to yesterday's telegrams from Rome, the Italian Government intends marching on and seizing. It is the far-famed land of the lotus eaters, the paradise mentioned by Herodotus, and, according to Mr. MacDonald, the most beautiful country on this sub-lunar sphere. Our readers will long for lotus eating when they read the graphic chapter of our colloborateur. As for ourself, we felt inclined to abandon our cellar, our Museum and our Prosolipo as we read the letter: Harrar beats Paraguay hollow.

Those who did and those who did n't win a prize in yesterday's Lotery were in exactly the same relative numbers as usual. Amongst the former were the holders of the following tickets:—With $50,000, 17424; $10,000, 16,206; $5,000, 3487; $2,000, 8,700, 14,076; $1,000, 14,770, 19,169, 15,448; $500, 12,357, 20,533, 21,123, 14,478, 1,270, 6,898, 2,228, 17,606, 11,743 5,970; $200, 10,506, 22,146, 18,107, 19,994, 12,720, 16,279, 9,616, 16,718, 12,660 15,262, 10,596, 16,816, 21,586, 2223, 19,529, 15,105, 17,523, 16,611, 13,995, 86,441, 2,119.

The Reserve Squadron—the Independencia, El Plata and Patagonia—will weigh anchor to-day, and go first to Banco Chico for a fortnight's target practice. Argentina's whole fleet almost is now in activity. So best. That's the way to make sailors.

All the minor Corsos proposed for Carnival in half a dozen shabby-genteel quarters of the city will be squashed like a ripe pumpkin. The Lord Mayor has decided that there shall be but one, undivisible, like the first, second and third French republics, as the police could not properly look after so many different rackets at the same time.

The news from Poor Peru is becoming interesting. The great question as to the fate of Tacna and Arica must soon come to the front for decision, and a red hot question it will be. President Pierola threatens to resign if the two provinces be permanently torn from Peru; and his Foreign Relations Minister swears he will cut his right hand off with the sharpest hatchet imported from Uncle Sam's fine country rather than sign such a cession. This is heroic; but it is much to be feared that somebody will eventually have to sign it, "bon gre, mal gre".

There may be some people in Salta who remember Jabez Balfour, unless their memories are short, and they may be interested in learning that he is now in Wormwood Scrubbs Prison, is in fairly good spirits, and in no way suffering in health. Balfour is now, of course, clothed in convict garb, and has been put on second class labour, which in his case is the making of sacks. He has not as yet had to rest on the plank bed.

The flare-up between the Lord Mayor and the Tramway Companies is not settled yet, His lordship now insists that all the Municipal employees have a right to free passes, and they must be restored to them. The companies naturally refuse to see it. When a Municioal employee gets hold of a free pass, he invariably thinks that the privilege extends to his whole family, and it gives no end of trouble to knock the idea out of his head.

Who has not heard of "Old Moore," not the late Terry of that ilk, but the famous Almanack seer, to whom all the Wigginses in the Plate or anywhere else are impotent to hold a rush light or a farting candle. Well the old gentleman, has, as usual, cast the horoscope of the New Year, and the following is a "precis" of his predictions:—"His reading of the stars reveals that in January, "the voice of rumour as to affairs in Germany will reach us, which will unsettle the whole balance of power in Europe. Hurried meetings will be held; another gathering of muttering crowds . . . . will have to be dealt with by the aid of household troops. The nauseous fiend of hunger will egg on the more reckless to deeds both desperate and daring. England will produce a man who will quell by his wisdom this unsettled state of society. Who is he? In February, there will be a colliery disaster, and a time of uneasiness for the London County Council. In March, startling news about the condition of one of our great schools. In April, the "poor old" Bank of England—as Mr Moore calls it—will come in for adverse criticism, and we shall lose an eminent lawyer. In May, John Bull will come in for a fair amount of well-deserved scorn from the other Powers, and in June there will be turmoil about the House of Lords, and "the dull thud of naked feet stamping in unison upon the ground will be heard in Kaffir-land." In July, "the blood-loving spiders will weave the crimson web of war." Old Moore's predictins for August are commonplace. "Our agriculturists," he declares, "will be getting in the proceeds of their toil and labour." But in September not only will news from Madrid proclaim that "the underground workings of years have at last broken through the thin cover of deceit," but there will be grave rumours, told in chilling whispers, concerning the health of a certain great personage. In October, we shall have another little Zulu war, and the Japs, "grown a triffle cocky," will involve themselves in a broil with a nation of a stronger calibre than China. In November, we are warned against bogus company promoters on a gigantic scale, also against serious outbreaks of Mob-Violence: whilst things will go very wrong with Austria and Italy. And finally in December, a year of discomfort and disaster will terminate with "that old terror," the Liquor question, again coming in for more talk and consideration." The old seer made a very fair shot as regards affairs in Germany this month; witness the Transvaal rumpus, and the month has still half its course to run.

FIRST RING 230.00%
SECOND RING..... 229.60%

The secret vote for armament has not ruffled the equanimity of the gold market. In fact bears and bulls have an idea that too much money cannot be spent in placing the country on a proper military footing, and a whisper is now going round that the Finance Minister can obtain as much money as he needs in the London market. This fact may explain the semi-official utterances of Ministnr Romero, who has confided to the editor of the Diario that he believes in a fall in gold; information of this kind from such a very high quarter can only be volunteered when there are powerful reasons to confirm such statements by facts. We may, therefore, be assured that if Minister Romero believes in a fall in gold and makes his opinion public, there is something in the wind to counteract the bullish effect of secret votes in Congress and fresh expenditure in armaments. What can it be? The Sphinx is nodding and smiling.

Nearly a million gold dollars changed hands at the first ring in a bearish speculation. Business for cash exceeded three hundred thousand dollars; the premium opened at 230.80%, fell steadily, and closed at 230%, flat. A quarter of a million was sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 232.50%, fell, and closed at 331.50%. Fair amounts were sold for to-morrow's fortnightly liquidation and for Saturday at a fraction above cash rates. Fifty thousand dollars were sold for the end of February at 235.50% to 234.50% premium, and a small business was done for end of March at 237 and 236.50%. The market closed with a weakening tendeney all round. The stiff contango continues, and the sharp demand for paper money also.

National Cedulas F rose sharply this morning to 77. In stock quarters it is said that holders of Internal Bonds, a 6% stock, are eager to let go and invest in Cedulas F, a 7% investment. La Plata Cedulas were steady at 17.50 and Catalinas at 3.30.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

The mails by the French packet were delivered to-day, but her dates are two days behind those received by the Pacific steamer Oropesa. The papers of the 19th from London are most interesting, as they reflect a sense of stupefaction and the sledgehammer effects of the Cleveland message in England, on the continent, and in the States. With regard to the effect on Argentine Railway stocks a leading London financial journal writes in the following strain;—

"Prior to publication of President Cleveland's utterances on the Venezuelan boundary question, there was no stronger market than Argentine Railway Stocks. Two and 3 per cent was being added to prices daily, and in some instances a gain was established in the course of the first three days of the week of 5 to 8 per cent. Conspicuous in the upward movements were the capitals of the Argentine Great Western and the Buenos Aires and Pacific Companies, regarding the future prospects of which we entertain a very favourable opinion. The collapse in other securities, however, has naturally brought down the prices of these with them, but the whole of the advance has not been lost, and we have little doubt but that intrinsic merits will once more begin to tell." Then Argentine railway stocks have recovered and are now booming again on the strength of increased returns and the settlement of the guaranteed railways' claims. Argentine Funding Bonds, according to a telegram received from London this morning, advanced ¼ today, to 74¼: the Municipal Loan is quoted at 27 and National Cedulas C at 25¾.

The December number of the Economic Journal of the British Economic Association contains a most interesting article of our Agricultural correspondent in England, Mr. William E. Bear, on the Agricultural Progress in the Argentine Republic. We regret that the paper is too long for our columns. In several parts he quotes the STANDARD to support his argument that the chief cause of progress of Argentine agriculture is the depreciation of the currency, which we have constantly qualified as a mistake. People in England have got into their heads that the currency crisis has not increased the paper wages of laborers; they have also a delusion that the purchasing power of the depreciated paper dollar is the same as when at par for all articles except those imported. There are fallacies resting on a slender foundation of plausibility in so far that the currency crisis has no doubt reduced to a certain extent the cost of labor. The crisis has been the greatest stimulant of agriculture, as the country has had to work hard, and is working strenuously, producing and retrenching in order to pay its debts.

The exchange market ruled very dull all day and rates were not firm. The market closed at:—

48 ¼ -5/16 on London.
5.09 fcs. on France.
5.10 fcs. on Belgium.
4.12 ½ mks. on Germany.

There is still a very stiff demand for paper money, and the discount rate at the banks is hard at 8%; gold bills are nominal at 7%, no demand.

Mr. R. H. Morgan, the well-known broker, was welcomed to-day after an enforced absence of a fortnight caused by a sprain. Don Emilio Hansen was also welcomed at the ring by all his colleagues.

Telegrams from Rio Janeiro this afternoon quoted the exchange rate on London at 9 ¼ d.

The terms of the ad-referendum commercial treaty between Chile and Brazil have leaked out, and we fail to see how it will alter very materially our trade relations with the ex-empire. One of the conditions is that shipping communication between the two signatory powers shall be fostered and forced by means of bounties granted to local enterprise, the Argentine Government to be invited to chime in with a view to the general development of South American trade. Well and good, if the bounties are munificent enough there will be no dearth of enterprise, but there is the rub; neither Brazil nor Chile is in a position to be very generous at present, so that in all probability the much desired development will be allowed to stand by for better times. The gist of the arrangements, therefore, hinges on the mutual concessions as regards imports. Brazil can place its unrefined sugar, coffee, yerba and tobacco in any form in the Chilian markets free of duty, whilst Chile in return gets a similar neighbourly turn for its flour, cereals, ordinary wines exclusive of champagnes, fruit, fresh or tinned vegetables and hay. Now as regards our relations with Brazil, the only two items in which Argentina is handicapped are hay and flour, as all the other products above mentioned pay no duty. Hay, taking into consideration the high cost of production and extra freight, as compared with this country, can take care of itself, since Chile is not in a position to compete advantageously, but with the flour it is different, and this is where the shoe pinches. Both the United States and this country will feel this pretty keenly, but as yet the business is not definite and therefore subject to modification.

The amount of specie arrived during the past year will take all by surprise except those who have followed the arrivals carefully, and the fact that the imports began in hard winter is looked upon as conclusive proof of the fact that the balance of trade is favoring us with the graven images fashioned to Queen Victoria's likeness. We take the following figures from the Custom House Returns:—

Rep. Oriental	1,764,157
Paraguay	73,611
France	1,442,816
England	360,100
Germany	226,422
Brazil	65,665
Spain	1,500
Italy	16,012
North America	400,000

To which must be also added the following sums not included in the above and which have either since arrived or are due:

" " Leibnitz	100,000
" " Manitoba	75,000

The total therefore is $7,720,383 gold. The data of gold exports are unfortunate not available, as it would be interesting to compare them with above.

The Land League cannot be said to be idle. It has in project a new mark system drawn up by Don Ricardo Newton on a more advanced line than the primitive, repulsive one at present in vogue, reform of the Constitution of the Province of B. Aires, the most radical part of which is the suppression of the M. P.'s emoluments, extirpation of scab, suppression of the deficiency noted in wool carried by train, and others of no less note and utility. We imagine, however, that there is an excess of theory and deficiency in practice about the Land League. It had the opening, cut to measure, as it were, to shew itself in the Las Flores business, where the corporation is worrying the farmers out of their wits, but it took no hand in the affair at all, though it might have afforded the opportunity of shewing itself practical and useful, as well as theoretical and ornamental. Less theory and more work is what is badly wanted.

Amongst the passengers arrived by the s.s. Wittekind, as an addition to those we have previously mentioned, we note Mr. Matias Sturiza, an estanciero of the Queen Province, who made his trip to Europe the object of a careful inquiry into the prospects of the continent as a market for Argentine beef and mutton, especially the Belgian and French markets. Mr. Sturiza thinks France so "ably protected" that as a market it is no market, except for home production, but with Belgium it is not so, and he was able to make arrangements there that will mark the starting point of a trade with that country in this line, Mr. Sturiza has brought out a new filter, the Breyer system, said to be superior to the Pasteur and actually in use in the Austrian army.

The ss. Portugal, which has arrived 3 days late, owing to having met with a heavy gale which kept her two days off the Lisbon bar, brings out Mr. Marchand, French Minister to Paraguay, who has satisfactorily arranged the question pending between the two countries, and Count Lavaux, a distinguished disciple of science and curiosity collector who is about to get together for the Paris Museum an assortment of the utensils in common use amongst the aborigenes of Patagonia and Fireland. The collection will certainly be more rare than extensive, as the Indians are not fastidious as to how they take their tea and rolls or manipulate their rashers. The Count at all events has a virgin task before him.

A gentleman named Medina has got so far in arrears with the Excise Office that he has had to apply to Government to release 250,000 litres of alcohol in the Ingenio San Vicente, under distraint at present, promising to hand over to the Government half of the gross proceeds of the alcohol when realized. The Excise Department, however, suggests a compromise. The debtor to give bills maturing in July and September for the arrears of taxes of year 1893, some $55,698 and the 50% offered as above to cover the tax with interest for this year.

The gold speculation at the second ring was very active and a bearish blast swept through the hall with invigorating and increasing violence. Some parties are quite carried away by the Ministerial hint that gold is on the eve of a sharp fall. Over seven hundred thousand dollars were sold this evening. Business for to-morrow delivery exceeded a quarter of a million; the premium opened at 230% and closed at 229.60%. Three hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month, the premium closing at 230.60 %. A fair amount was sold for February, the premium closing at 234%. Nationnl Cedulas F experienced another rise; they closed at 77.50.

Our special travelling correspondent in the South arrived up to-day. He reports heavy rains and the rivers and streams all swollen, which, followed up by a pretty severe frost knocked a lot of maize out of time. He gives us the following transactions effected in live-stock.

Don Juan MacDonald of Bonnemont has sold 250 splendid steers, averaging over 700 kilos per head at $40 gold per head, a fine price, but the animals were a very special lot.

Mr Lizundia of Chascomús has bought from Mr. Molinuevo 4,000 Rambouillet wethers at $4.80 per head and 2000 sheep from Mr. Chaix Jr, at $2.30.

Mr. Ureta has sold to Mr. J. Damondray 2000 sheep at $2.

A very important business is reported from the Mesopotamia. Mr. José Mendizco has bought for the Liebig establishment 10,000 steers from various parts of the province, the prices being kept in reserve.

This was a ram day "par excellence" in Tattersall's. The yard was crowdedand the animals, which were an exceptionally fine lot, went off at a rattling pace, the bidding being like sharpshooting, fast and furious. The following were the results:

20 Lincoln rams imported by Mersy, Thomas Murray and Co. for $10,280 giving an average of $514 each.

8 Lincoln rams imported by Mr. Miller for $4,220, giving an average of $527.50 each.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The markets in Europe present no change in prices; the slight fall has not affected combed wools much; the fluctuations in the market rates are not significant enough to upset the fixed prices. In Antwerp the sales and demand are well sustained; still the great business to-day is more or less concentrated in cereals, two or three cargoes that arrived in London were sold at 15 shillings and sixpence; the demand in our markets is well kept up, little by little we expect to see the high piles of bags dwindle down: the sudden demand for maize can be well compared to a meteor; who knows how the article will stand next month; as long as the flash lasts maize farmers will do a brilliant business, as exporters buy up every parcel that can withstand the voyage. As regards wheat, the article is stiff all round, although operations are small, the prices paid are as fair as one could ask, some few parcels fetch exceptional prices, which shows that the markets are on a rise. The arrivals in wool have fallen off somewhat: we notice that the Central only received about 700,000 kilos; the sales all round were small, 400,000 kilos changed hands at the usual prices, if the sales continue on their present scale, it will soon be seen on the market, as they will not be able to withstand the strain. The large parcels from Entre Rios and Patagones are attracting much attention, unfortunately the latter is not up to the mark, having a lot of seed and also being rather dirty.

The sales in our markets were as follows:—

MERCADO CENTRAL DE FRUTOS.

The demand for maize still continues on a most stirring scale, this is due greatly to the false position exporters are in, when the present vessels are despatched, the probabilities are that prices will suffer another fall, this is a pretty clear case, as in a couple of months we shall have the new crop supplanting the old one: the news from several colonies is that the yield of maize this year will be far superior to the past. On the other hand other colonies are suffering greatly from the past damages and at present from the locusts. The prices to-day were in the Grand Dock on board 3.20, for superior qualities in the darsena 3.70 was paid, at this rate we can well understand that owners stand out for four dollars. The telegrams from Europe report both wheat and maize on the rise. In the Once prices for wheat are stiff, for new 'tusela' 7.35 and for old French wheat 7.35 is offered. What has taken a sudden spurt, is oats, large parcels are sold every day at an average price of 3.20, and even at this price the demand is steady.

Two sales were spoken of in linseed; in the Retiro one inferior lot was sold at 8.50 and another from Entre Rios at 10.50. We did not hear of any operations in Rosario, though several parties informed us that some large transactions are on hand for this month. Hay maintains its own and is still quoted at 30, dollars the 1000 kilos for export, the quality in our markets is nearly all mixed, but the demand for forage in foreign markets counteracts this deficiency.

In an exchange from Australia we find the following account of the drought in Queensland. It seems that farmers are literally on the broad of their backs for want of water. Our exchange says:—"A recent traveller through Queensland asserts that it is devastated and ruined for the want of rain, which still seems to be as far off as ever. The road which he traversed from Bundaberg to Rockhampton was dotted every few yards by cattle and horses, many being dead, and the others, too weak to rise, lying waiting for death. The loss to the small selectors is tremendous, many having lost everything. The state of things may be judged when it is mentioned by the traveller referred to that in calling at a dairy farm he found the people taking their tea without milk, as all their cows had perished. Station holders and selectors also feel the effect of the drought very keenly. Queensland, it is said, was never in a worsa condition, the whole country being overstocked, every run and farm carrying far more stock than should be the case. What grass there was, was so dry that fires were very frequent. The drought is seriously affecting the towns, many of which are running short of water. The Mount Morgan mine may have to shut down for want of water, which will throw a thousand men out of work, and the Central Queensland Meat Export Company at Rockhampton will probably discharge a large number of hands and work short time, as no cattle can be got to work on. "On most of the stations, even if they could muster a few fats, the horses are totally unfit to do a day's work, and then there is no grass on the stock routes, so it would be almost impossible to get them to the meat works in fit condition for killing." The drought is teaching the stock raisers a hard lesson, that they should only breed as many cattle as their runs will carry. The animals would then get as much grass as they wanted, and a smaller number of fine beasts would surely pay better than a large number of half-starved ones.

Yesterday's papers from Montevideo report arrivals in cereals strong, but operations weak. The change is due to the large arrivals of new wheat, which have reduced the demand for the old article; the prices, however, are well maintained; a small lot of 250 bags of new wheat from Rincon de Conde was sold at 2.20 the 100 kilos. Business in maize was brisk, in the past few days from 25 to 30,000 bags were sold for Brazil and Europe at 95 cents, the maize was in first-class condition. The prices asked for animals for saladero purposes are so high that few sales are noticed, Messrs. Arribillaga and Co. bought 174 animals at very high rates; the cattle owners have raised their prices to such an extent that "saladeristas" have resolved not to pay any more than 8 and 8.50 per head, they are obliged to do this as the news from Brazil reports a further fall in jerked beef. Although no business was done in salted hides or tallow, the following sales from Buenos Aires were much commented on: the saladero Chascomus sold 300 pipes of tallow at 9.75 gold, Messrs. Rocca and Terrarosa sold 1000 salted hides of 23 kilos at 17.00, and the saladero Freitas in Concordia 6000 hides of 30 kilos at 20.25, and 2000 cow hides of 23 kilos at 18 dollars.

The wool markets present no activity, a large purchase made by a Buenos Aires firm was the great topic: he bought a 1000 bundles from Salto, superior quality, at 2.25 the 10 kilos; in the deposits the following was sold: 10,000 kilos from Minas at 2.25. 7000 do from Florida at 2.35. 4500 do from Chileno at 2.40, besides this some 18,000 kilos were sold at more or less the same prices.

"The bright, moving picture of the country's trade, commerce and production on the opening year consoles us with the conviction that its future is superior to human error and independent of individual influence."

The above lines, quoted from THE STANDARD of 3rd inst., are the true expression of our sentiments respecting the present position and expected future of the country, if we are to judge from what has occurred to us, as a minute fraction in its common wealth, during the year that has expired, and the hopeful advent of the new one on which we have entered.

If we take our branch of trade, and instance our business in particular, we have to admit that the prospects as regards the country at large are not at all exaggerated in the transcript we have made us of, as the increase in our concern has been beyond our most sanguine expectations during the old year, and, on the eve of the new one, promise is given of a very satisfactory augmentation.

To keep pace, therefore, with this hopeful state of affairs we have made amp e provision, and our stock, which is always kept in adequate supply, will be periodically increased with every novelty to meet the increasing requirements of the year.

GENERAL.

The Argentine s.s General Mitre on the night of the 12th was in the reach of Ibicuy Chico, run into by the s.s. Astrea, also flying the Argentine flag. The General Mitre was seriously damaged but managed to reach thii port. Her cargo also was thoroughly soacked and the Captain has presented the usual protest.

As the Italian ss. Sempion was to-day passing through the narrow passage between the Basin and Dock N° 1, she was met by a tug having another vessel in tow. To avoid a collision, the Sempion was herself damaged by the tug, though but slightly. It was fortunate no worse consequences ensued; but those in charge of the passage, should by a properly arranged system of signals, such as those used on the railways, prevent the possibility of such accidents.

The Argentino should to-morrow leave for Rio, Argentina for Bremen and County Antrim for Liverpool.

The Wittekind should to-morrow arrive in the roads from Bremen, also the Brenttor and Rowton from Rio.

The Norwegian ss Hodving and Helga should to-morrow enter the Riachuelo from the roads to discharge their cargoes of coal.

The sanitary authorities of Rio state that on the 8th instant, 21 death from yellow fever occurred in that city, and 16 on the following day.

To-day the Ektos, Aldersgate and Ithaka remained in the road in observation. On board the Ektos a passenger who shipped at Rio, died during the voyage, and it is thought possible that his illness may have been yellow fever.

The log of the National Transport Villarino on her last trip contains the following interesting notes: On the 22nd ult. she sighted the gunboat Uruguay North of Cape Virgin and again at Punta Delgada in the straits: as she was short of coal and medicine the Villarino gave her 15 tons and the medicine required. The 1° de Mayo transport was reported arrived, all well aboard at Port Madryn on 9th inst. On the 11th inst the National squadron in single file was seen off Cape Corrientes. On the 23rd ult. Dr. Nordenskjold was at the Popper mines in Fireland following up his scientific researches. The Villarino made such a fine speedy trip that she will probably be sent to Patagones with the 8th of the line in place of the gun-boat Paraná.
